CONGRESS won't last much longer. Its "days are gliding swiftly by." There is nothing the country can so well afford.

YESTERDAY'S Spurt of Show in Rome, New York, is due notice to get down the roller skates and prepare them for action.

Onto Democrats are still talking of refusing to recognize the new Congressional districts. Most of them know better than Republican speakers who are to stir up the State of Maine. Mr. Blaine will do some stirring up himself with eighteen speaches. They make politics a live thing in the Pine Tree State. LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL ought to have instant search made for an Irish Nationalist in that Norwegian bark. The theory of a coal gas explosion, he will readily perceive, is the weak invention of an enemy to the British Empire.

THE Republicans of the district over the river meet in convention to-day to nominate a candidate for Congress. There is an abundance of good material and the friends who are looking on from this side hope they may make the best of it. It is unfortunate that some bad blood has been Giving his reasons for signing the oleomargarine bill the President says: "I deem it my duty in this instance to defer to the judgment of the legislative branch of the Government, which has been so emphatically announced in both Houses of Congress upon the passage of this bill." The President has not felt it his duty to defer to the judgment of Congress in the matter of the pension bills. There was where he thought Congress had no judghis way to Jerusalem to say to a New York reporter that the fight in 1888 will be between Cleveland and Blaine. He says, "the old, stanch Republicans intend to put Mr. Blaine up again to show the Mugwamps that they have confidence in him." To show that Mr. Bookwalter is a police.

That there may be no ground for a charge of unfairness this article is printed, though the INTELL! exxcan doubts whether the public will take grea; interest in this communication or in the Washington dispatch which has called it out. In fact we think the public has lost interest in the whole affair, and certainly does not require that a dead son street, The witness said he saw the certainly does not require that a dead tify in behalf of either side to a profitless controversy. REFERRING to the proceedings of the Republican Conference, the Wellsburg Herald says: "When the alphabetical list was about half exhausted, Cowden, of Wheeling, was evidently taken with a de sire to be excused and moved that the vote be taken at that stage." We are quite sure that the Herald does not wish to do injustice to Mr. Cowden. Many of the gentlemen present were obliged to leave on the afternoon trains, and before leaving desired to vote on the pending proposition. It was to afford this oppor tunity that Mr. Cowden made his sugges tion, accompanied with the explanation that after the vote those who remained would have an opportunity to express their views. Nearly all of those who desired to leave on the afternoon trains were favorable to submission.

No man in the Conference was more in favor of the declaration that was made than Mr. Cowden was. Nobody who was present could have suspected him of en-tertaining any other view or of desiring to dodge. As Chairman of the State Commit tee he modestly refrained from taking such a part as would have opened him or his committee to the suspicion of attempting to "run" the Conference. The desire of the committee was that the Conference should shape its own course, and proba-bly there never was a similar gathering which did things more according to its own sweet will.

ANARCHISTS' TRIAL.

The Witnesses for the Defense Make So

Duringing Statements.
CHICAGO, August 3.—The attorneys for he defense in the Anarchists' trial were late in putting in an appearance this morning, and the proceedings were deayed. Mrs. Black, wife of the chief counsel for the defendants, appeared in court promptly as usual, and estentatiously preented the defendant Spies with a large bouquet of flowers, and proceeded to supply the remaining defendants with copies of the illustrated weeklies and local daily newspapers.

Friedrich Liebel, who testified yester-Friedrich Liebel, who testified yester-day, took the witness chair, and was subjected to a cross examination. The witness was a regular reader of the Arbeiter Zeitung, and saw in it the announcement of the Haynarket meeting. He had only been in America two years. He declared that he saw a bomb in the air, and that it, that he saw a bomo in the air, and that it, apparently, came from the sidewalk south of the alley. The witness belonged to the Carpenters' Union which met at Zepl's Hall. He had visited Spies, Lings and Schwab in jail. He had attended a Socialistic picnic given to raise funds for the defendants. His associates had been mainly Socialistic.

Doctor James D. Taylor, who said he had lived in Illinois forty-four years, and the last three years in Chicago, was at the Haymarket, May 4. The witness is quite deaf, and the counsel had to raise their voices. He said he heard every word uttered by the speakers at the Haymarket. Questioned as to the exact language used by the speakers, he only remembered that Fielden said; "D—n the law; throttle it." At the conclusion of Mr. Hoar's remarks, Mr. Kenna protested against the speech made by the Senator from Massachusetts in the closing hours of the session. Mr. Saulsbury, in very severe and pointed terms condemned the attempt of the Senator from Massachusetts to-make political capital for his party, when there was no opportunity to reply to it. him by Sanators Konna and Saulsbury,

Mr. George asked him whether it was his purpose to ask the Senate to take up the bill now in an orderly way.

Mr. Hoar replied that of course it was, and suggested that under the explanation which he had just made the Senators from West Virginia and Delaware would withdraw their ortitiesm. Mr. Kenna said that so far as the Senator's declaration of a purpose to have the bill considered was concerned he had no issue with him; but ncerned he had no issue with him; but he could not see any cause or pretext for the Senator's speech when he knew that his bill could not and would not be con-

Mr. Blair objected to further consideration of the adjournment resolution and it was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Flynn's Expulsion.

NEW YORK, August 3 .- The expulsion of Maurice B. Flynn, from the ranks of of Maurice B. Flynn, from the ranks of the County Democracy by the Executive Committee of the latter body, last night, is the main topic of conversation in political circles to-day. While some thought that Flynn should have been accorded a hearing on the charge against him before taking action, it was the chief opinion that the dropping of Flynn from the rolls of the organization was a good thing for the party.

> WASHINGTON, D. C., August 3 .- A mem ber of the Foreign Affairs Committee holding close relations with the Adminis tration, stated to-night that the adoption of the Cutting resolutions, should they pass the House to-morrow, would imply much more than seemed to be generally supposed in the first place. He said man Cutting. Mexico has refused and has given reasons. These resolutions state those reasons are insufficient and request the President to renew the demand Should this renewed demand be refused our Minister will be at once withdrawn and then in all probability an extra session of Congress would have to be called. Mr. Belmont, the Chairman of the House Ommittee on Foreign Affairs, is working most earnestly for the release of Mr. Cutting. The Cabinet was in session about three hours to-day arranging the affairs of the, departments in anticipation of the speedy adjournment of Congress. The Cabinet was also considered the control of the speedy adjournment of Congress. speedy adjournment of Congress. The Cutting and Raseurus cases were also considered. There is no prospect that any of the appropriation bills will be sent to the President to-night.

Resolutions on the Case,

Washington, D. C., August 3.-There was a special meeting of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs to-day for the purpose of considering resolutions infroduced by Messrs. Lanham, of Texas, Belmont, of New York, and Orane, of Texas, in relation to the imprisonment of A. K. Ontting, in Mexico. After discussion the following, prepared by Orane, was unanimously adopted, and sent to the House for immediate action.

A party of Italians and Hungarians engaged at lumpering on the new Pennsylvania railroad bering on the new Fennsylvania ralifoad went down to Neecopee, Saturday, to attend a wedding and the whole crowd got on a spree. The stupor that resulted continued until sundown on Sunday, when one of the Hungarians named Kolowskei picked up a fight with three Italians, who had crept into a barn to sleep off the drunk. Kolowskei deliberately whipped out a heavy revolver and shot two of the out a heavy revolver and shot two of the Italians through the head. Then, throw-ing it saide, he seized an axe handle lying ing it aside, he seized an axe handle lying in a crib and pounded the third Italian's head to a jelly. The three victims of the Hungarian's malice died within half an hour after the first shot. The barn shows that there was an awful struggle, blood spattering over everything. Kolowskei spattering over everything. Kolowske took to the mountains and is still at large

THE OTHER SIDE. THE WEST VA. COLLECTORSHIP.

Friend of Ex-Collector McCormick on the Late Chief Deputy Laird's Part in His Re moval-His Admission that He Made a Mistake-A Good Deal of Hot Shot.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Sin:—I was deeply pained and chagrin-ed this morning to read a whole column of mean, personal spleen telegraphed to the Intelligences by your Washington correspondent attacking ex-Collector Mc-Cormick under the guise of vindicating a dead man. I put it mildly when I say that every line in the article referred to, except the mere announcement of Colector McGraw's confirmation, was uncalled for, unnecessary, injudicious, and in the main untrue. It was simply taking dvantage of a confidential relation to let off through the INTELLIGENCER a lot of personal bile at the expense of the paper and he great party it represents. We cannot as Republicans afford to grab one another

No LONGER A CANDIDATE.

In withdrawing from the contest for the Congressional nomination I desire to make to my friends the following explanation and statement:

Before I announced my intention to be a candidate I consulted a number of prominent Republicans of Belmont county who were of the opinion that such candidacy would be entirely proper and ought to have the united support of the party of the county.

Many earnest Republicans from other counties held, as Mr. Bingham, of Harrison county, did, that there was no great overwhelming claim held by any individual that should exclude the fair consideration of the claims of others. by the ears, especially at a time when we are in sight of the "Promised Land." It seems that your Washington corres-pondent felt called upon to resurrect a pondent folt called upon to resurrect a dead man from the grave, in which he has these many months been sleeping, in order, as he says, to vindicate his memory. Knowing the facts as I do in connection with the deceased, who so unfortunately figured in the public prints as the factor that secured Mr. McGraw's appointment as Collector of Internal Revenus of West Virginia, and having before mea copy of the Wheeling Register giving the whole circumstance to the public, the friends of the dead man referred to, of whom I am one, cannot feel otherwise than deeply hurt over resurrecting his connection with the removal of Collector McCormick. De mortuis nit nist bonum.

I will only say that the Register distinctly announced at the time the removal of Collector McCormick was made, that vidual that should exclude the fair consideration of the claims of others.

Swift upon the announcement of my purpose, Belmont county was overran with the agents of Mr. Taylor and herculean efforts made to distract and divide the Republicans of the county. Money was sent to various points to be used in secret methods to obtain voters to "capture" townships, and silidavits are not wanting that men were "bired" to yote wanting that men were "hired" to vote against me. Letters were written by Mr. Taylor over

Letters were written by Mr. Taylor over his own signature and circulated in the county charging me with "carrying on a campaign of misrepresentation and in-trigue," and of forming "secret organiza-tions to capture the delegates," when in fact I did not visit a single point in Bel-mont county except St. Clairsville and Bridgeport, and refused to go elsewhere when requested. tinetly announced at the time the remov-al of Collector McCormick was made, that al of Collector McCormick was made, that it was done upon the charges made by McCormick's chief deputy, and it was never denied by the Deputy or any of his friends, or by Commissioner Miller; nor has any one else presumed to deny it until your Washington correspondent has undertaken, upon his own responsibility to declare that the dead deputy had nothing to do with the removal of his chief. Is this a fact? I will allow the pert correspondent to answer this question himself. After stating that Deputy Collector Laird, when asked to do so by Commissioner Miller, refused to prefer a charge of any kind against Collector McCormick, his chief, the correspondent represents the deputy as saying: when requested.
All the disappointed aspirants for office who failed to secure nominations combined against me.

and other disreputable methods in the in-terest of the claimant.

Prominent citizens of Barnesville falsely charged that I antagonized their local pike bill as a member of the Legislature, and others denounced me as opposed to the interest of the farmers, and at the same time letters from the candidate they worked for were in procession of citizens ieputy as saying:
"Of the Collector Mr. Laird speke in "Of the Collector Mr. Laird spake in rather high terms porsonally, but stated, basing his judgment on an experience of twenty years in the service, he did not believe the Collector was the right man in the right place; a good business man and lawyer, but did not appear to grasp the practical part of the business in a way that would in the end stamp him as a successful and altogether efficient revenue official. This, he said, was apparent to every one who knew the Collector."

Now, any one who knows Mr. McCormick personally cannot but admit that he is one of the keenest, shrewdest, beat balanced business men in West Virginia. No man in all my acquaintance can catch an idea quicker than he; and being only a little above 40 years of age, it cannot be said by any one truthfully that a man of his sense, and attiments could not in a same time letters from the caudidate they worked for were in poseession of citizens there making infamous proposals for help to carry the delegates.

Over in Nable county, a so-called Republican paper denounced me as in league with secret labor organizations and called upon the farmers to oppose me, while in Jefferson county a guard from the Ohio penitentiary circulated boycott circulars saking all workingmen to oppose me because I was against labor organization, asking all workingmen to oppose me be-cause I was against labor organization, and he had tools at the polls who de-nounced my ticket as a blacksheep ticket. These are a few of the instrumentalities by which I have been cut down, and I have a right to give them to the public, for in nearly forty years of active political life I have never seen nor passed through such a contest, and I hope, for the honor of the Republican party, never to see an-other like it. said by any one truthfully that a man of said by any one truthfully that a man of his sense and attainments could not, in a short time, familiarize himself with the duties of a Collector's office, especially when he retained in his employ all of the experienced deputies and clerks of his predecessor. The Register declared that Mr. McCormick was removed for cause, and the cause was said to be inefficiency, and the charte was hased upon the statements. other like it.

To those who have felt constrained to support another through no personal un-kindness, but because of what they re-garded as special claims, and were manly in their methods, I have no complaints to make; they did but exercise their right of the charge was based upon the statements garded as special claims, and were manly in their methods, I have no complaints to make; they did but exercise their right of choice.

For the mercenary and unscupulous I have nothing but contempt.

To the large number of faithful friends who stood by me I am very grateful and assure them that I will ever be ready to acknowledge my indebtedness and return in kind the services rendered.

Having made an earnest fight last winter against fraud and boodle in polities, I cannot submit without complaint to the use of dishonest methods in my own party. And with my own county divided by these methods my sense of self-respect makes my withdraw of the contest and the contest and the contest and the contest and the charges to be basely false, and even now your cymling-headed correspondent cannot make any one believe other than that the whole thing was a lie made out of whole clott, simply to get a faithful official out to make room for a Democrat. Could Deputy Laird under all the circumstances have used stronger language than your correspondent says he used, when he stated that "the Collector (McCormick) was not the right man in the right place?" Your correspondent makes my withdrawal from the contest and the charges to be basely false, and even now your cymling-headed correspondent to make my our cymling-headed correspondent to make out of whole clott, simply to get a faithful official out to make room for a faithful official out to make room for a faithful official out to make any one believe other than that the whole thing was a lie made out of whole clott, simply to get a faithful official out to make out of whole clott, simply to get a faithful official out to make any one for a faithful official out to make any one for a faithful official out to make any on take for your Washington correspondent to rush into public print to defend the Democratic side of this case, which has from the first been outrageous and vil-lainous. His article from first to last is a defense of the Democracy—a defense of Joe Miller, whose treschery to Mr. Laird, in making public a private conversation, rushed the latter into a present register. CHICAGO, August 3 .- Apropos of the now daily crowded attendance on the trial of the Anarchists, it is stated this evenknown Socialist not under arrest, boldly declared to an official at the Criminal York Sun and other funds raised for the York Sun and other funds raised for the relief of the starving flashermen on the west coast of Ireland during the past winter and spring.

The farewell levee given by the Earl of Aberdeen and his wife at Dublin Castle to-day was attended by a largo number of members of the Irish National League. The streets of the city were profusely and beautifully decorated in hour of the departing Viceroy, and an enormous crowd of people assembled from all parts of the country and tendered the Aberdeens at the country and tendered the Aberdeens and the said funds of the country and tendered the Aberdeens at the country and tendered the Aberdeens and the said funds and trushed in and tried to blacken with on the inside and outside, may be blown on the inside and outside, Court building that if the jury would rushed the latter into a premature grave; bring in a verdict of guilty the said a defense of Johnny McGraw, who was so bring in a verdict of guilty the said honey for office that he could not wait

He has been a to secure the jury in the case from being approached, and to prevent even a note being surreptitiously thrown them as they pass from the court room across the street for the Revere house to take their meals. Police are stationed at intervals across the street jealously guarding the slightest appearance of an approach to any of the jurers by outside parties.
